

GETTING INTO HALL H

NOTE: ANY OF THESE RULES CAN CHANGE AT ANY TIME AT THE DISCRETION OF COMIC-CON & SECURITY.

Next Day Line

Starts Two Nights Before Panel

The next day line will form two nights before the panel you are waiting for (so if you're waiting for Saturday's panels, that means Thursday night), at an unspecified time. Look for the green flag.

Line Wristbands

Might Happen. Might Not.

In 2024, they utilized "line" wristbands, to ensure later on that you weren't holding space for more people than allowed. It is unknown if they will utilize this again.

Toucan Tracker/ First Seating Wristbands

Occurs Night Before Panel

This is the official wristband to get you into Hall H. Comic-Con will announce beforehand what time wristband distribution starts, but it takes several hours, and your entire party must be present. Once you receive this, you can have part of your group stay to hold your spot, or leave and return by 7:30am. However, if no one holds your spot, you are heading to the back of the wristbanded line.

Hall H

You Made It!

Congratulations, you made it into Hall H! You are free to stay here all day — Comic-Con does not clear the room between panels.

Important Rules

- Each person in line can hold space for up to two additional people. Make sure you have enough people in line at all times.
- No tents allowed
- Your entire party must be present for the Toucan Tracker/First Seating wristband distribution.
- If you choose to leave, you must return by 7:30am — and it's better to give yourself some extra time.
